Free with purchase? Uncovering the truth behind health benefit incentives. The Insurance Provider perspective.

Benefits fraud and abuse costs Canadian employers billions of dollars each year. This means it can have a direct impact on the benefits coverage of millions of Canadians' benefits plans. Fraud and abuse can increase the costs to benefits plans and it can lead to higher premiums for the plan member and the employer. As a result, organizations may decide to cover fewer services...

Ministry of Health Performance Measurement Framework

At its most recent meeting, Council received a presentation from a Ministry of Health representative of the work it is undertaking on a Performance Measurement Framework (CPMF). This is a government led initiative to develop a comprehensive system for measuring efficacy of Regulated Health College's mandate to regulate the professions in the public interest.

The Future of Regulatory Health Colleges

A recent McMaster Health Forum report by Kerry Waddell and Kaelan A. Moat (2019) looked at how the efficiency and effectiveness of the regulatory colleges in Ontario's health system could be improved? They describe four reasons exist to explore the issue of improving regulatory college efficiency and effectiveness in Ontario, including...

Renewal Stickers

Effective immediately, the College Council unanimously agreed that COCOO will no longer send renewal 'blue stickers' with payment of members' annual fee. The College surveyed other health regulatory Colleges, and discovered, unsurprisingly, that none of them provide a sticker to their members each year. Since the College is transitioning to a digital and paperless annual membership renewal process, mailing out stickers is not compatible with this direction.
